Editorial Article:

Dear Friends, as the Science and Technology is improving day by day, our dependency get increased for technology. The human society is completely unaware of the side effects of these technology as a result we are experiencing unnatural rain, earth quake, ice sliding etc. We are also consuming our natural resources very rapidly which may not be available to our next generation. So as a nature lover it's my sincere request to the scientific fraternity to work on this and develop such technologies which are nature friendly. Thanks.
